WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

The Day's Global Young Journalist Awards started in 2022, to showcase the amazing storytelling talent of young people around the world. Anyone with a passion for bringing people the truth can enter, as long as they are aged between 7 and 18.

Entries are now open for The Day's 2024 Global Young Journalist Awards, highlighting the importance of the people who make the news.

Newsmakers

Journalists change the world everyday.

For more than 400 years, journalists have shone a light on the issues of the day by telling stories.

They gather information about things from fashion to finance, and break it down for you to help you understand what's really going on.

New news

Since the rise of the internet, there are more places to get news than ever before. And it can be hard to know who to trust.

From town criers to TikTok, sorting fact from fiction has always been a problem.

That's where journalists come in.

While some people worry that AI-generated writing will threaten journalists' livelihoods, others say that we'll always need people we can trust to keep the public informed.

Spreading the word

The Day's Global Young Journalist Awards gives you the chance to help shape the future through storytelling.

Is there an issue you're passionate about? A new technology you want to explain? A story you think needs to be told? Let us know, and we'll help you let the world know.

Students aged 7 to 18 from anywhere in the world can enter! See The Day's website for more details.
